

SECURITY

The Vaux is your home and everyone living here should be as aware and forceful with regard to protecting the security of the building as if it were a private home. It is difficult to deny access to the building to people that appear to have a reason to enter, but the homeowners and tenants must be assertive in this regard. Otherwise, there is effectively no security in the building beyond the lock on your door.

Do not admit any persons unknown to you into the building at any time, for any reason, no matter how nice they look or how reasonable their explanation. If they have a legitimate reason for being in the building, they will be able to reach the party they are visiting from the front door phone. If the party they are visiting is not home, then they have no reason to be in the building, so there is never a good reason for giving a stranger access to the lobby. It may seem awkward, but simply say:

“I’m sorry, I don’t recognize you.”

Tell your guests not to expect to enter the building without using the security systems and ask them not to expect other people entering the building to let them in.

Vehicles entering and exiting the garage should wait in view of the door to insure that it fully closes behind them.

Ensure that all exterior doors are closed properly behind you.

Immediately report all suspicious activity to the Portland Police. For non-emergency situations, call (503) 823-3333.
